AvidXchange Renews Microsoft Gold Independent Software Vendor (ISV) Certification

Charlotte, NC (January 7, 2012) - AvidXchange is pleased to announce renewal of its Microsoft Independent Software Vendor (ISV) Gold certification. Microsoft awards gold-level certification to best in class, mission-critical applications that have passed their rigorous certification process. Achieving Windows Server 2008 R2 Platform Ready Gold certification identifies AvidXchange as being independently tested to meet Microsoft's highest level of technical qualification for stability, security, reliability, availability, Windows fundamentals, and platform compatibility.

AvidXchange achieved gold status certification by demonstrating that its application runs successfully on Windows Server 2008 R2 and adheres to Microsoft development guidelines and best practices. Being a Microsoft gold-level ISV partner gives AvidXchange access to the latest virtualization tools and web resources. Using Windows Server 2008 R2 helps AvidXchange manage their development time more efficiently, reduce data center operating costs and provides a platform to dynamically manage their datacenter.

"One of the most important reasons for being a Microsoft ISV gold certified partner is it gives us access to the latest Microsoft technology and to their team of experts," relates Chris Tinsley Chief Technology Officer for AvidXchange. He goes on to add that "to provide the highest level of service and performance to our customers, we have to be current on the latest server technology for a SaaS environment; gold certification helps us do just that."

In addition to passing Microsoft's rigorous certification process, gold-level certification requires at least five customer references that have used AvidXchange's applications for at least 5 years. AvidXchange has been providing Software-as-a-Service solutions since 2000, pioneering accounts payable automation delivered as SaaS. Their suite of applications automates a business's bill pay process reducing operating costs while increasing productivity and visibility to the bill pay process.
